in 1960 and remained with that team when it moved to San Diego the following year. In 11 seasons under Gillman, the Chargers won AFL Western Division titles five times and had an overall record of 86-53-6. His 1963 team defeated the Boston Patriots, 51-10, to win the AFL championship. Sid finished his head coaching career after the 1974 season when he was named NFL Coach of the Year after leading the Houston Oilers to a 7-7 record. He and his wife, Esther, are the parents of four adult daughters. The Gillmans reside in Philadelphia.

GEORGE HILL, Linebackers

George Hill is beginning his second year with the Eagles after establishing a solid background on the college level, including eight seasons from 1971 through 1978 as defensive coordinator under Woody Hayes at Ohio State. Hill, 47 (April 28, 1933), is a native of Bay Village, Ohio. He was a lineman at Ohio's Denison University, which he attended after service with the U.S. Navy. George began coaching in 1959 at Findlay (O.) College, returned to Denison from 1960 through 1964 and then spent the 1965 season at Cornell. He was an assistant at Duke from 1966 through 1970 before joining the Ohio State staff. George coached a number of outstanding college players who went on to have successful NFL careers, including Miami's Bob Matheson at Duke, and Ohio State products Randy Gradishar of the Denver Broncos, Rick Middleton of the San Diego Chargers and Bob Brudzinski of the Los Angeles Rams. In his first season with the Eagles last year, Hill contributed a great deal to the rapid development of number one draft choice Jerry Robinson, who won All-Rookie team honors after becoming a starting inside linebacker at mid-season. George and his wife, Cloyde, reside with their children, Greg, 15 and Tammy, 11, in Mount Laurel, N.J.

KEN IMAN, Offensive Line

Along with Chuck Clausen and Dick Coury, Ken Iman is one of three assistants who joined Dick Vermeil's first Eagles' coaching staff in 1976. Iman came into the NFL with no prior coaching experience after a stellar 14-year playing career as a center with the Green Bay Packers and Los Angeles Rams. Iman, 41 (February 8, 1939), is a native of St. Louis, Mo. and a 1960 alumnus of Southeast Missouri State College. He joined the Packers after graduation and played in three consecutive NFL championship games (1960, '61 and '62) with them before being traded to Los Angeles for quarterback Zeke Bratkowski in 1964. After missing the '64 season with a broken ankle, Ken went on to start 140 consecutive regular season games between 1965 through 1974. In 1972 his teammates voted him most valuable player honors. He also started in the 1974 NFC championship game. With the Eagles, Iman joins Jerry Wampfler in coaching the offensive line. Ken is the father of four children, Susan, Karen, Betsy and Robert.

BILLY JOE, Running Backs

Billy Joe's first season as an NFL assistant coach was a successful one as Eagles' runners totaled 2,421 rushing yards to rank 9th in the NFL last year. The only Philadelphia area native on the staff, Billy enjoyed seven seasons as a power running fullback in the AFL and NFL after starring as a prep player in suburban Coatesville, Pa. and in college at Villanova, where he helped the Wildcats appear in the 1961 Sun Bowl and 1962 Liberty Bowl. As an outstanding shot putter, Joe won a silver medal for the

Veterans Stadium

Veterans Stadium has been the home of the Eagles since 1971. Known to thousands of Delaware Valley sports fans as "the Vet," the stadium is one of the finest multi-purpose sports facilities in the country.

The Vet is built on a 74-acre site in South Philadelphia in a complex that includes a recreational park, mammoth John F. Kennedy Stadium and the Spectrum indoor arena, home of the Philadelphia Flyers and 76ers.

Veterans Stadium, built at a cost in excess of $50 million, is unmistakably the jewel of the complex. The Eagles, 76ers, Phillies and Fury Soccer Club maintain their executive offices in the stadium and the 1980 Army-Navy game will be played there for the first time.

The first Eagles' game at the Vet took place on August 16, 1971 when they downed the Buffalo Bills in a pre-season encounter, 34-28. The first championship season win came at the expense of the New York Giants, 23-7, on October 24, 1971.

Previous home fields for the Eagles in Philadelphia have been the Baker Bowl, Shibe Park (Connie Mack Stadium), J.F.K. (Municipal) Stadium, and the University of Pennsylvania's Franklin Field.

In nine previous seasons in Veterans Stadium, the Eagles have compiled a 30-35-1 regular season record. The seating capacity for football is 71,434 and the field is astro-turf, installed in the spring of 1977.

EAGLES' OUTLOOK

The Eagles enter their 6th decade of NFL competition as legitimate championship contenders after last year's 11-5 regular season record and second straight appearance in the playoffs as a wild card entrant from the NFC's very competitive Eastern Division.

It hardly seems possible that, as recently as 1977, the Birds were 5-9 and had not enjoyed a winning record since 1966. Then came the 9-7 breakthrough season of 1978 and the success of '79 which firmly established the Eagles' credentials.

Seven Eagles played in the Pro Bowl after last season but only one of them, tackle Jerry Sisemore, was a first round draft choice. The other six included a free agent (Wally Henry), a trade acquisition (Stan Walters) and draft choices Randy Logan, Wilbert Montgomery, Harold Carmichael and Charlie Johnson, selected in the 3rd, 6th, and 7th rounds respectively.

Those seven, plus a number of others, give the Eagles a solid returning nucleus of offensive players, defensive players and specialists.

Ron Jaworski didn't play in the Pro Bowl but he did enjoy his most productive NFL season last year, throwing 18 touchdown passes and only 12 interceptions to improve in both categories in his third year as a full-time starter. The backup job behind Jaworski will feature former Giant Joe Pisarcik, ex-Bengal Rob Hertel or Mark Manges, a former 4th round draft pick of the Rams.

Jaworski's continued development has been helped immeasurably by the presence of skilled receivers like Carmichael, Charles Smith and underrated tight end Keith Krepfle. Carmichael is coming off another outstanding season which saw him catch 52 passes, including 11 for touchdowns to lead all NFC receivers in that category while stretching his string of consecutive games with a pass reception to an NFL record 112. Young players hoping to see more action include second year tight end John Spagnola and wide receivers Scott Fitzkee and Jerrold McRae.

The running game is keyed by the brilliant Wilbert Montgomery, who broke his own club record with 1,512 rushing yards last year and scored nine touchdowns on the ground. He also caught 41 passes for another 494 yards and five more scores, giving him a total offensive output of 2,006 yards, best in the NFL. His capable backups include fleet Billy Campfield, a fine third down receiver, and special teams demon Louie Giammona.

Incumbent fullback Leroy Harris has slimmed down but must show more consistency as a blocker and receiver to hold off 2nd round draftee Perry Harrington, a 210-pound halfback with 4.4 speed at Jackson State. Larry Barnes also returns in a reserve role.

The offensive line, with Pro Bowl tackles Walters and Sisemore and center Guy Morriss, is solid at those three positions but somewhat questionable at the guard spots where last year's starters, Wade Key and Woody Peoples, will be 33 and 37, respectively, by the beginning of the season. Young guard Petey Perot may be destined for a starting job while ex-Cowboy star Rayfield Wright is expected to be the backup tackle and long snapper Mark Slater the top reserve at center.

On the defensive side, the Eagles were slightly less stingy in points allowed last year when they surrendered 282 as opposed to 250 in 1978.

"Defensively we can play better than we did last year," says Dick Vermeil. "We are capable of playing better run defense than we did. We came way up statistically in pass defense and dropped way down in run defense. I think, with added intensity and improved performances by the talented group we have, we can get back to the standards set in 1978."

The front seven remains the strength of the defense and the secondary should be strengthened by the addition of number one pick Roynell Young at cornerback. All-pro middle guard Charlie Johnson is flanked by ends Carl Hairston and Claude Humphrey who, between them, recorded 25 of the Birds' 45 quarterback sacks last season. Another end, Dennis Harrison, was slowed by minor injuries in his second season but he could be a factor this year if he can remain healthy. The same can be said of pass rush specialist Lem Burnham, another end, who had 10 individual sacks two years ago. Manny Sistrunk is a superior run defender at end while Ken Clarke replaces Johnson at middle guard in most passing situations.

The linebacking corps remains deep and talented, especially with the anticipated return of Bill Bergey after early season knee surgery last year. Vermeil has promised to start the four best linebackers and the quartet should come from among outside men John Bunting, Reggie Wilkes and Ray Phillips and inside backers Frank LeMaster, 1979 all-rookie selection Jerry Robinson, Terry Tautolo and Al Chesley.

A swarming pass rush and some improved coverage helped the Eagles rank 4th against the pass in the NFL in 1979 and the starting secondary of cornerbacks Herman Edwards and Bob Howard and safeties Randy Logan and Brenard Wilson accounted for 13 of the 22 pass interceptions. Wilson, an all-rookie selection, led the way with four.

Howard, who will be 36 in November, will be challenged by number one pick Young with second year men Richard Blackmore, Al Latimer and Henry Monroe also in the picture. Versatile John Sciarra is expected to compete with Logan for the strong safety spot.

The Eagles' special teams were indeed special last year, ranking number one overall in the NFL in the combined four categories of punt and kick returns and punt and kick coverage. Returner Wally Henry scored an 86-yard punt return touchdown in the Pro Bowl after leading the team in punt and kickoff returns during the season. And when Wally was injured, John Sciarra filled in well enough to lead the NFC with an average of 11.4 yards per punt return.

Tony Franklin, the barefoot kicker, had three field goals of 50 yards or longer as a rookie, including a 59-yard success against Dallas that is the second longest in NFL history. His 105 points were the second best among kickers in the NFC and his 23 field goals the second best season output in Eagles' history.

Punter Max Runager, like Franklin a first-year man last year, had a solid 39.6-yard average but, more important, only 34 of his 74 punts were returned for an average of 5.9 yards per return. "Our kicking and kick return games could very well end up being the best in football, coming out of nowhere from having maybe the worst," says Vermeil, who remembers some of the problems during his first three years at the helm.

Vermeil, with a reputation for saying what is on his mind, does not shy away from predictions that have put the Eagles among the NFL's elite but he also knows that games are not won on paper.

"I'm optimistic but I'm also realistic," he says. "We could be a better team and not win as many games. We're definitely a playoff contender in what is without question the toughest division in the NFC but with the schedule we have, playing nine games against teams that won nine games or more and another against a team that was 8-8, it will be very hard to prove won-lostwise that we're a better football team. But I definitely think we will be."

LEONARD H. TOSE

Owner and President

The Eagles' consecutive playoff appearances the past two years have been the highlights of the 11-year tenure of Leonard H. Tose as the club's owner and chief executive officer. Tose purchased the Eagles in 1969 for a sum in excess of $16 million but he had to endure nine frustrating seasons before presiding over a team that won more games than it lost in 1978.

An Eagles' season ticket holder long before he entertained thoughts of actually owning the team, Tose was born and raised in the Philadelphia suburb of Bridgeport, Pa., where his late father, Mike, had founded the successful family business, Tose Trucking, Inc.

Leonard graduated from the University of Notre Dame in 1937 and has maintained close ties with his alma mater since then, serving on the alumni association's board of directors from 1969 to 1972.

After college and service with the Army's military police, Tose joined the family business as a truck driver and eventually rose to his current position, chairman of the board. And, while he has maintained his business associations outside of football, the Eagles have remained his primary interest.

As a working club executive, Leonard serves on two important committees within the National Football League's structure, the NFL Management Council and NFL Films.

Tose's many philanthropic activities, the foremost of which is the Eagles Fly for Leukemia campaign, are well known in the Delaware Valley. He first became involved in the battle against leukemia in 1973 when Fred Hill, then an Eagles' tight end, requested his support in a fund-raising effort after Hill discovered that his own daughter, Kim, was afflicted with the disease.

Leonard responded with a guarantee that the Eagles would spearhead the pursuit of a Super Goal of $800,000 while absorbing all administrative costs of the program. With every penny donated going directly to help in the research and treatment of leukemia, the original Super Goal was met and surpassed in only four years. Over $1.2 million has now been generated for the Children's Hospital of Philadelphia and teams throughout the NFL have become involved in similar projects in their own cities through the unique Ronald McDonald House promotions.

Tose has also lent his financial and administrative support to the high school football programs in the city of Philadelphia. His personal contribution of $79,000 in 1971 helped insure the survival of varsity football in the public school system when monetary difficulties threatened its existence.

In 1975, his contributions helped establish the Philadelphia City All-Star football game, a showcase for the often overlooked gridiron talents of youngsters in the inner city. Since its inception, the game has helped over 160 student-athletes receive college financial aid while becoming the most successful all-star contest in the state of Pennsylvania.

All of the activities in which the Eagles are involved are a result of Tose's commitment to the fans of Philadelphia. "They deserve whatever we can do for them for what they have done for us," he says. "Win or lose they fill the stadium and I think they appreciate what we are trying to accomplish. I know we appreciate their loyalty and support."

JIM MURRAY

General Manager

Jim Murray was named general manager of the Eagles in December, 1974, five years after he joined the club as assistant director of public relations.

The 42-year-old Murray is a native Philadelphian and an alumnus of West Catholic High School and Villanova University, class of 1960. He began his career in sports administration immediately after graduation when he took a job in organized baseball with the Sally League's Tidewater Tides.

After a stint of active duty with the Marine Corps Reserve, he returned to baseball as assistant general manager of the Atlanta Crackers, an affiliate of the St. Louis Cardinals.

Murray left the Crackers in 1964 to enter the restaurant business, first in Atlanta and later in Malibu, Cal. But two years away convinced him that his future was in sports and in 1966 he returned to the East to become sports information director at Villanova.

Three years later he joined the Eagles' Public Relations Department and in 1971 he became an administrative assistant. Jim's background in public relations puts him in the elite company of numerous NFL executives, the foremost of whom is commissioner Pete Rozelle.

During his tenure with the Eagles, Murray has assumed leadership roles in a number of community projects. He has played a major role in persuading many of his peers in the NFL to support the unique concept of the Ronald McDonald House in their own cities. NFL teams throughout the country are now actively involved in the co-sponsorship of McDonald Houses like the first one in Philadelphia, where youngsters suffering from various illnesses can stay with their families at little or no cost while undergoing treatment at nearby hospitals.

Jim is also an active supporter of high school football, specifically the Philadelphia City All-Star game which has helped more than 160 young student-athletes receive college scholarship aid since 1975.

In 1979, Murray served as the sports chairman of the annual fund-raising drive of the Fellowship Commission of Philadelphia, a human rights organization dedicated to strengthening people-to-people relationships.

Fittingly, dealing with people is one of Jim's most obvious talents. "I think I have a basic thing to contribute and that is an understanding of the Philadelphia fan," Murray says. "I grew up in neighborhoods where you didn't even have to lock your door . . . where, if something was wrong in your house, you didn't worry because somebody from next door came in and took care of you."

"I understand the Philadelphia franchise and what the people want. They want a good day's work and total effort. They expect that, they deserve that and I think they know that they can count on everyone in our organization to give it to them. It's nice to be able to say that."

Away from the job, Jim likes to relax at his Rosemont, Pa. home with wife, Diane, and their five children: Karin, 21; Amy, 12; Jimmy Joe, 10; Brian, 9 and John Paul, 1.

DICK VERMEIL

Head Coach

NFL Coach of the Year. At the beginning of every football season, there are 28 candidates for that singular honor, 28 men who have reached the zenith of their profession. But by the time the 16 game NFL regular season winds to a close in the bitter cold of December, only one of the original 28 stands alone as a first among equals.

For the 1979 season that one man is the Eagles' Dick Vermeil, the choice of his fellow coaches as the best in their business in balloting conducted by the Sporting News. It is the ultimate individual honor for Vermeil in a 21-year coaching career that he began in 1959 as an assistant at Del Mar High School in San Jose, Cal.

Dick Vermeil was born in Calistoga, Cal. on October 30, 1936 and grew up in that small town nestled in the Napa Valley wine country of northern California. He first became devoted to football in the early 1950's when he starred at quarterback and in three other sports at tiny Calistoga High School. In between his scholastic and athletic pursuits, he worked in his father's auto repair garage, eventually becoming a proficient mechanic and developing the work ethic and devotion to excellence that have marked his coaching career.

After high school, Dick attended nearby Napa Junior College and then San Jose State, where he played quarterback and later earned a Master's degree in physical education in 1959.

His first head coaching assignment in 1960 took him to Hillsdale High School in San Mateo, Cal. His three teams there compiled a 17-9-1 record through 1962 before he moved on to become backfield coach at San Mateo Junior College in 1963. The following year he became head coach at his alma mater, Napa College, and turned a perennially losing program into an immediate winner with a 7-2 record in his first year at the helm.

In 1965 the major college ranks beckoned and Dick left Napa to join John Ralston's staff at Stanford, remaining there through 1968 when he left to become an aide to George Allen with the Los Angeles Rams. He returned to college coaching under Tommy Prothro at UCLA the next year but rejoined the NFL the following season when Prothro was named head coach of the Rams. Dick coached the Los Angeles quarterbacks under Prothro and was retained on the staff when Chuck Knox became head coach in 1973.

Vermeil rose to national prominence during a two-year tenure as head coach at UCLA beginning in 1974. His two Bruin teams compiled an overall record of 15-5-3, a Pacific-8 Conference title and an upset of number one ranked Ohio State in the 1976 Rose Bowl game.

It was the good fortune of both Dick and the Eagles that team owner Leonard Tose and general manager Jim Murray were watching that Rose Bowl contest on television. By the end of the game, Tose and Murray had penciled in Vermeil's name at the top of their lengthy list of candidates for the vacant Eagles' head coaching position and on February 8, 1976 he signed a five-year contract (later extended through 1985) to become the Birds' 15th head coach.

Behind Hall of Famer Earle "Greasy" Neale, Vermeil is already the second winningest coach in the history of the franchise despite taking over a team that had not won more games than it had lost since 1966. His first Eagles' team posted a 4-10 record while the coach was establishing the work standards that have characterized his teams on every level of play.

The following season the Birds improved to 5-9 but the foundation was set for a breakthrough in 1978 when a 9-7 record was good enough to put them into the NFL playoffs for the first time since 1960 and impressive enough for Vermeil to be named United Press International's 1978 NFC Coach of the Year. He won similar recognition from the Professional Football Writers of America, the Kansas City 101 Club and the Columbus (Ohio) Touchdown Club for the rebuilding job he had accomplished with a team that had not had a number one or number two choice in the college draft since 1973.

In 1979, with the benefit of a full draft for the first time, Dick directed the Eagles to an 11-5 mark, a tie with the Dallas Cowboys for the NFC Eastern Division title, and a second consecutive NFC playoff appearance. The Birds defeated the Chicago Bears, 27-17, in the wildcard playoff game before being eliminated from Super Bowl contention by the Tampa Bay Buccaneers. Even that disappointing loss couldn't tarnish the gloss of the Eagles' most productive season in 20 years or diminish the accomplishments of Vermeil, the man who had directed the return of winning football to the city of Philadelphia.

It's no wonder that Dick was the overwhelming choice of his peers when the Sporting News counted the ballots. He was also named NFL Coach of the Year by the Football Digest and NFC Coach of the Year for the second consecutive time by the PFWA and the Kansas City 101 Club.

During the football season, spare time is a phrase that is not in Vermeil's vocabulary. When he does get some time away from the office, Dick is active in the Special Olympics program and the Eagles Fly for Leukemia campaign. His relaxation interests include hunting, photography and, a carryover from his earlier years, automobiles and auto racing.

Dick and his wife of 24 years, the former Carolyn Drake, are the parents of three children. Sons Richard, 22 and David, 21, attend Villanova University and daughter Nancy, 19, is a student at Penn State. The Vermeils reside in Bryn Mawr, Pa.

Assistant Coach

FRED BRUNEY, Defensive Secondary

Fred Bruney, who coached the Eagles' secondary from 1964 through 1968 under Joe Kuharich, has been in Philadelphia again since 1977 after spending the previous eight seasons with the Atlanta Falcons. The 48-year-old Bruney (December 30, 1931) has spent a total of 28 years in professional football as a player and coach. A native of Martin's Ferry, Ohio, Fred starred as a defensive back at Ohio State before graduating in 1953. He was a 3rd round draft choice of Cleveland that year but was traded to San Francisco and played the 1953 season with the 49ers before beginning two years of military duty. He returned to San Francisco in 1956 and subsequently saw action with Pittsburgh (1957), Los Angeles (1958), and the Boston Patriots (1960-62). He was an All-AFL selection in 1960. Boston, his last playing spot, was also his first coaching stop. He tutored the defensive backs there in 1962 and 1963 before coming to Philadelphia. The defensive secondaries he coached at Atlanta consistently ranked with the NFL's best and the Eagles' defensive backs have made tremendous progress during the three seasons he has tutored them. In 1979, Bruney's secondary accounted for 15 of the Eagles' 22 pass interceptions. Fred and his wife, Louise, reside in Medford, N.J. They have five children: Chuck, 24; Susan, 16; Lori, 13; Rebecca, 10; and Richard, 8.

MARION CAMPBELL, Defensive Coordinator

The man given the most credit for the extremely effective Eagles' 3-4 defense is Marion Campbell, the defensive coordinator who has been helping to stop opposing offenses since breaking into the NFL as a player in 1954. In the three seasons as the Birds' defensive leader, Campbell's units have given up an average of just 16 points a game. Developing talented defensive units is nothing new to Campbell, who has gained a solid reputation from his work at Minnesota (1964-66), Los Angeles (1966-68) and Atlanta (1969-76). Marion was the Falcons' head coach from November of 1974 to October of 1976. The 51-year-old native of Chester, S.C. (May 25, 1929) was a three time All-Southeastern Conference choice as a tackle at Georgia and was also selected as the team's most valuable player as a senior before graduating in 1951. He was a 4th round draft choice of the San Francisco 49ers but did not begin his eight-year NFL playing career until 1954 after completing two years of Army service as a lieutenant. He played two years with the 49ers before being traded to the Eagles, where he enjoyed his greatest playing seasons and starred on the Eagles' 1960 NFL title team. Marion was a Sporting News All-Pro choice in 1959 and 1960 and played in the 1960 and 1961 Pro Bowl games. He retired after the 1961 season and began his coaching career in the AFL with two seasons (1962-63) with the Boston Patriots. A talented golfer and avid fisherman, Campbell resides in Medford, N.J. with his wife, June, and their two children, Scott, 18, and Alicia, 15. Scott is a sophomore football player at the University of Georgia.

CHUCK CLAUSEN, Defensive Line

Chuck Clausen has been the Eagles' defensive line coach since 1976 after spending the previous five seasons as the defensive line mentor at Ohio State under Woody Hayes. In three years under his direction the Eagles' pass rush has improved dramatically, tying a club record with 47 quarterback sacks in 1977 and adding 45 more last year. Clausen, 40 (June 23, 1940) is a native of Anamosa, Iowa. He was a letterman in football and wrestling at New Mexico before graduating in 1963. From 1963 through 1967 he coached on the high school level while also earning a Master's degree in physical education at San Jose State. He spent the 1968 season at New Mexico Military Institute, then moved up to the college ranks in 1969 at William and Mary under current Kansas City Chiefs' head coach Marv Levy. He remained at that school until 1971 when he left to join the Ohio State staff. The Buckeyes won Big 10 titles in four of his five seasons there as Clausen coached three All-Americans, George Hasenohrl, Pete Cusick and Nick Buonamici. Clausen has played a major role in developing outstanding young Eagles' defensive linemen Carl Hairston, Charlie Johnson and Dennis Harrison. Chuck and his wife, Betsy, reside in Mount Laurel, N.J. with their three children: Cari, 12; Lisa, 10 and Chad, 9.

DICK COURY, Wide Receivers

Dick Coury is one of three Eagles' assistants (Marion Campbell and Sid Gillman are the others) with head coaching experience on the professional level. He was head coach of the World Football League's Portland Storm in 1974. Dick was born on September 29, 1929 in Athens, Ohio. He played freshman football at Notre Dame before graduating in 1951. After spending 1952 and 1953 with the U.S. Army in Japan, he began his coaching career at Mater Dei High School in Orange County, Cal. He developed consistently outstanding teams at that school until 1965 when he joined the staff at the University of Southern California as defensive coordinator. In 1968 he was named head coach at Cal State (Fullerton), where he remained through 1970. Dick's previous pro experience includes service as a Denver Broncos' assistant from 1971 to 1973 and one year (1975) with the San Diego Chargers. He has coached the Eagles' wide receivers since 1976. Dick and his wife, Bonnie, are the parents of seven children: Mike, 25; Richard, 23; Steve, 22; Robert, 21; Cathy, 19; Linda, 18; and Tim, 16. Steve has signed with Ottawa of the Canadian League after leading the Pac-10 in receiving as an Oregon State senior last year. The Coury family resides in Mount Laurel, N.J.

SID GILLMAN, Quarterbacks, Research and Development

It is no coincidence that the Eagles enjoyed a fine offensive showing in 1979, Sid Gillman's first year on the coaching staff after a short hiatus away from professional football. After "retiring" from the NFL after serving as the Chicago Bears' offensive coordinator in 1977, Sid spent a year and a half as athletic director at U.S. International University in San Diego. Gillman, 68, joined the Eagles in April of 1979 to work with the quarterbacks and head a new department of research and development. He was slowed by open heart surgery before his first Eagles' training camp but returned to Philadelphia by the beginning of the season to work closely with Dick Vermeil in the development of offensive game plans. Sid was born in Minneapolis, Minn. on October 26, 1911. After graduating from Ohio State, he became a coach at that school for the '34 season. Following two years (1935 through 1937) at Denison University he returned to his alma mater from 1938 to 1940. He went on to assist at Miami of Ohio in 1942-43 and at West Point in 1948. Gillman became a head coach for the first time at Miami of Ohio in 1944 and remained there through 1947. He was named head coach at the University of Cincinnati in 1949 and never won fewer than eight games in a season there through 1954. He came into the NFL in 1955 as head coach of the Los Angeles Rams, a position he held until 1959. He moved to the AFL with the Los Angeles entry in 1960 and remained with that team when it moved to San Diego the following year. In 11 seasons under Gillman, the Chargers won AFL Western Division titles five times and had an overall record of 86-53-6. His 1963 team defeated the Boston Patriots, 51-10, to win the AFL championship. Sid finished his head coaching career after the 1974 season when he was named NFL Coach of the Year after leading the Houston Oilers to a 7-7 record. He and his wife, Esther, are the parents of four adult daughters. The Gillmans reside in Philadelphia.

GEORGE HILL, Linebackers

George Hill is beginning his second year with the Eagles after establishing a solid background on the college level, including eight seasons from 1971 through 1978 as defensive coordinator under Woody Hayes at Ohio State. Hill, 47 (April 28, 1933), is a native of Bay Village, Ohio. He was a lineman at Ohio's Denison University, which he attended after service with the U.S. Navy. George began coaching in 1959 at Findlay (O.) College, returned to Denison from 1960 through 1964 and then spent the 1965 season at Cornell. He was an assistant at Duke from 1966 through 1970 before joining the Ohio State staff. George coached a number of outstanding college players who went on to have successful NFL careers, including Miami's Bob Matheson at Duke, and Ohio State products Randy Gradishar of the Denver Broncos, Rick Middleton of the San Diego Chargers and Bob Brudzinski of the Los Angeles Rams. In his first season with the Eagles last year, Hill contributed a great deal to the rapid development of number one draft choice Jerry Robinson, who won All-Rookie team honors after becoming a starting inside linebacker at mid-season. George and his wife, Cloyde, reside with their children, Greg, 15 and Tammy, 11, in Mount Laurel, N.J.

KEN IMAN, Offensive Line

Along with Chuck Clausen and Dick Coury, Ken Iman is one of three assistants who joined Dick Vermeil's first Eagles' coaching staff in 1976. Iman came into the NFL with no prior coaching experience after a stellar 14-year playing career as a center with the Green Bay Packers and Los Angeles Rams. Iman, 41 (February 8, 1939), is a native of St. Louis, Mo. and a 1960 alumnus of Southeast Missouri State College. He joined the Packers after graduation and played in three consecutive NFL championship games (1960, '61 and '62) with them before being traded to Los Angeles for quarterback Zeke Bratkowski in 1964. After missing the '64 season with a broken ankle, Ken went on to start 140 consecutive regular season games between 1965 through 1974. In 1972 his teammates voted him most valuable player honors. He also started in the 1974 NFC championship game. With the Eagles, Iman joins Jerry Wampfler in coaching the offensive line. Ken is the father of four children, Susan, Karen, Betsy and Robert.

BILLY JOE, Running Backs

Billy Joe's first season as an NFL assistant coach was a successful one as Eagles' runners totaled 2,421 rushing yards to rank 9th in the NFL last year. The only Philadelphia area native on the staff, Billy enjoyed seven seasons as a power running fullback in the AFL and NFL after starring as a prep player in suburban Coatesville, Pa. and in college at Villanova, where he helped the Wildcats appear in the 1961 Sun Bowl and 1962 Liberty Bowl. As an outstanding shot putter, Joe won a silver medal for the U.S.A. in the 1963 Pan American Games and still holds the Villanova school record with a toss of 60 feet, 6 inches. Originally a 6th round draft choice of the Denver Broncos in 1963, he went on to win AFL Rookie of the Year honors while leading the Broncos with 649 rushing yards. After two seasons in Denver, Billy was traded to Buffalo for league MVP Cookie Gilchrist in 1965 and helped the Bills win the AFL championship that year. He played with the Miami Dolphins in 1966 and with the New York Jets in 1967, '68 and '69, although a regular season knee injury caused him to sit out the 1969 Super Bowl won by the Jets. Billy began coaching as an assistant in 1970 at Cheyney (Pa.) State, moved to the University of Maryland in 1971 and then returned to Cheyney in 1972 as head coach. His seven-year record there was 38-31 and his 7-3 squad of 1978 won him Pennsylvania State Conference Coach of the Year honors. He joined the Eagles in April of 1979. Billy resides in Concordville, Pa. with his wife, Cora, and daughter, Candace, 14.

LYNN STILES, Administrative Assistant, Tight Ends and Special Teams

Lynn Stiles wears many different hats for the Eagles, serving as Dick Vermeil's chief administrative aide while coaching the tight ends and coordinating the special teams which ranked as the best in the NFL in 1979. Stiles was actually among the first coaches hired by Vermeil when he arrived in Philadelphia in 1976 but an opportunity to become head coach at San Jose State interrupted Lynn's first stay with the Eagles before the '76 NFL season began. Stiles, 39 (April 12, 1941), was born in Kermit, Texas but went to high school in Reno, Nev. After a college playing career as an all-Western Athletic Conference guard at the University of Utah and a post-season appearance in the All-American Bowl, Lynn began coaching at his alma mater in 1963 and remained there through 1965. From 1966 to 1970, he was a defensive line coach under Ray Nagel at Iowa before joining the UCLA staff of Pepper Rogers in 1971. Stiles served as assistant head coach and defensive coordinator for the Bruins after Vermeil took over in 1974. As head coach at San Jose State from 1976 through 1978, Lynn guided his teams to an overall 18-16 record and two PCAA championships. He and his wife, Marigene, currently reside in Moorestown, N.J. with their three children: Staci, 13; Shon, 10 and Tiffany, 2. A 4th child is expected in July, 1980.

JERRY WAMPFLER, Offensive Line and Running Game Coordinator

Jerry Wampfler began his second stint with the Eagles last season after serving as the Birds' defensive line coach under Mike McCormack from 1973 through 1975. Wampfler, 47, was born in New Philadelphia, Ohio on August 7, 1932. Recruited by Woody Hayes, he was a standout offensive tackle at Miami of Ohio from 1951 to 1954. An off-season back injury forced him to miss an NFL tryout as a Los Angeles Rams' draft choice and he turned to a career in coaching at high schools in New Philadelphia, Lancaster and Massillon, Ohio. He undertook his first major college assignment at his alma mater from 1963 through 1965 before becoming an offensive line coach under another Miami alumnus, Ara Parseghian, at Notre Dame. He remained at Notre Dame until 1970 when he was named head coach at Colorado State, a position he held until joining the Eagles in 1973. After his first three years in Philadelphia, Jerry was an assistant coach at Buffalo in 1976 and 1977 and with the

New York Giants in 1978. He returned to the Eagles in April of 1979 and teamed with Ken Inan to coach a fine offensive line that sent two players, tackles Stan Walters and Jerry Sisemore, to the Pro Bowl. Jerry and his wife, Carol, have three children, Nan, Jody and Tad. They reside in Cherry Hill, N.J.

CARL PETERSON, Director of Player Personnel

Carl Peterson, the Eagles' director of player personnel, has served in that position since February of 1978 after spending one season, 1976, as Dick Vermeil's administrative assistant and tight ends coach. Peterson, 37 (May 26, 1943), grew up in southern California where he played football at UCLA and eventually earned a doctorate in 1970. After coaching on the prep and small college levels from 1966 to 1971, he joined the UCLA staff in 1972 and remained there until coming to Philadelphia. Carl deserves a large share of the credit for the Eagles' turnaround of the past four seasons. As the man chiefly responsible for the scouting and acquisition of college and pro talent, Peterson and his five man scouting department have recommended the drafting of future Pro Bowlers Wilbert Montgomery and Charlie Johnson in the 6th and 7th rounds, respectively, in 1977; starting linebacker Reggie Wilkes in 1978; and the NFC defensive rookie of the year in 1979, 1st pick Jerry Robinson. Other standouts acquired during Carl's tenure include draftees Billy Campfield, Dennis Harrison, Tony Franklin and Max Runager; free agents Herman Edwards, Wally Henry, Woody Peoples and Brenard Wilson and trade additions Claude Humphrey and Leroy Harris. Carl is also responsible for signing all rookie and most veteran players. He resides in Berlin, N.J. with his wife, Belinda, and their 10-year-old daughter, Dawn.

JACKIE GRAVES, Assistant Director of Player Personnel

Jackie Graves is beginning his 8th season with the Eagles and 6th as the club's assistant director of player personnel. His concentrated area of scouting responsibility is the South and Southwest and for that reason he continues to make his home in Houston, Texas. The 54-year-old Graves had a varied football and business background before coming to the Eagles in 1973. A native of Lubbock, Texas, he played football and majored in physical education at Texas College in Tyler. After college he served as an assistant coach at Texas Southern University for nine years and later coached at his alma mater for two seasons. After working in private business from 1961 through 1965, Jackie joined the A. G. Spaulding Co. for five years (1966-70) while scouting part-time for the New England Patriots. He worked for the CEPO scouting combine just prior to joining the Eagles. Jackie and his wife, Willie, are the parents of three children: Roderick, 21; Sheila, 19; and Jackie A., 18.

BILL BAKER, Talent Scout

Bill Baker, who has been with the Eagles for the past five seasons, is the club's primary scout for the Western region of the United States. He joined the organization in 1975 after spending the previous two seasons with the CEPO scouting combine. Baker, 52 (November 26, 1927), is a native of Knoxville, Tenn. He played college football at Tennessee (1947-49) and at Wyoming (1950-51) as a center-linebacker. Bill began coaching in 1952 at Newcastle High School in Wyoming and compiled a 24-2-1 record there through 1954. In 1955 he became head coach at Chadron (Neb.) State College. He remained there through 1961. His 1958 team was undefeated and won

He moved on to Wyoming as offensive line and kicking coach from 1962 through 1970 and performed the same duties at Arizona in the 1971-72 seasons. Bill and his wife, Marjorie, have a married daughter, Vicky, and two sons, Bill, Jr. and Mike. They reside in Tucson, Ariz.

JIM KATCAVAGE, Pro Scout

Philadelphian Jim Katcavage, who began his grid career at this city's Roman Catholic High School, joined the Eagles' personnel department in 1974 after spending the 18 previous years in the NFL with the New York Giants, first as an all-pro defensive end and later as an assistant coach. A native of Wilkes-Barre, Pa., "Kat" moved to Philadelphia as a youngster with his family. He played as a collegian at the University of Dayton before joining the Giants in 1956 as a 4th round draft choice. His playing career spanned the period from 1956 through 1968 when he starred on one of the great defensive front fours in NFL history. Katcavage became an assistant coach with the New York club in 1969 and remained there in that capacity through 1973. Jim and his wife, Kathy, reside with their two children, Jimmy and Kathleen, in Maple Glen, Pa.

PHIL NERI, Talent Scout

Phil Neri is the newest and youngest member of the Eagles' scouting department after having completed his first season as the club's Midwest Area Scout last year. The 29-year-old Neri (July 13, 1951) is a native of Santa Monica, Cal. He played football at Santa Clara University, where he earned a B.S. degree in business in 1973. Phil was a college teammate of Oakland Raiders' quarterback Dan Pastorini. He spent two seasons (1974-75) as an assistant coach at Notre Dame High School in Sherman Oaks, Cal., then served for two years (1976-77) as a graduate assistant to current Eagles' assistant Lynn Stiles, who was head coach at San Jose State at the time. Neri spent the 1978 season covering the Rocky Mountain region for the BLESTO scouting organization before joining the Eagles. His father, Jerry Neri, is a Philadelphia native and has scouted for the Detroit Lions for the past ten years. Phil is a bachelor and resides in Los Angeles, Cal.

HERMAN BALL, Personnel Consultant

Although he officially retired and passed along his title of player personnel director to Carl Peterson at the conclusion of the 1977 season, 68-year-old Herman Ball remains an integral part of the Eagles' personnel department. Herman, who served as personnel director since 1969, has been associated with the National Football League in some capacity for the past 36 years. He played guard at Davis-Elkins College in West Virginia from 1932 to 1934 before beginning his coaching career at Ridgeley, W. Va. and Cumberland, Md. on the high school level. In 1943 he joined the staff at the University of Maryland and remained there until 1946 while serving concurrently for two years as a Washington Redskins' assistant. He went on to become head coach of the 'Skins in the 1950-51 seasons. Ball joined the Pittsburgh Steelers in 1955 for one year before spending seven seasons (1956-62) with the Baltimore Colts. He came to the Eagles as an assistant coach in 1964. Surgery for a knee injury that dated back to his high school football days kept Herman on a heavy rehabilitation schedule during the past off-season. He resides in King of Prussia, Pa. with his wife, Edna.

OTHO DAVIS, Head Athletic Trainer

The Eagles' nationally respected head trainer is 46-year-old Otho Davis, the current executive director of the National Athletic Trainers Association and past president of the Pennsylvania Athletic Trainers Society. A native of Elgin, Texas, Otho holds a B.S. degree in physical education from Lamar Tech (1957) and an M.A. degree from Kent State (1964). He was a trainer and an assistant professor in the department of physical education at Duke University from 1965 until 1971 when he entered the NFL for the first time as associate trainer of the Baltimore Colts. He became head athletic trainer of the Eagles in 1973. In that capacity, he supervises a training and rehabilitative facility that ranks among the best in professional sports. His skills have been recognized by the National Athletic Trainers Association, which named him "Professional Trainer of the Year" in 1977 and 1978. Otho resides in Mount Laurel, N.J. with his wife, Joanne, and their four sons: Mark, 23; Harry Duke, 17; Richard, 15 and Tom, 12.

RON O'NEIL, Assistant Athletic Trainer

Ron O'Neil has been an invaluable member of the Eagles' training staff since he joined the club in 1973 at the same time as head trainer Otho Davis. O'Neil, 32, came to the Eagles after a stint as assistant trainer at Northwestern University. In Philadelphia, he has enhanced his reputation as a skilled and dedicated rehabilitation specialist. A native of Clarksburg, W. Va., Ron is a 1969 alumnus of Ball State, where he majored in physical education and biological sciences. He is a certified athletic trainer and assists head trainer Davis in the administration of the National Athletic Trainers Association. He is also the president of the Pennsylvania Athletic Trainers Society. Ron and his wife, Joyce, reside in Tabernacle, N.J. with their sons, Chadd James, 3 and Shaun, 2 and infant daughter Kara.

VINCENT J. DISTEFANO, M.D., Team Physician

Dr. Vincent J. DiStefano has served as Eagles' team physician for the past nine seasons. A native of South Philadelphia, he received his undergraduate education at Temple University (A.B. degree in 1959) and his medical training at the Hahnemann College Medical School (M.D. degree in 1963). He served as a physician in the U.S. Navy from 1964 to 1966 and currently specializes in orthopedics at the Paoli (Pa.) Memorial Hospital along with Eagles' orthopedic consultant Dr. Herman Phillips. He is also associated with the Paoli Sports Medicine Clinic and is a member of the American College of Sports Medicine. Dr. DiStefano lives in Phoenixville, Pa. with his wife, Mary Elizabeth, and their four children.

RUSTY SWEENEY, Equipment Manager

Since 1970, the demanding and responsible position of head equipment manager with the Eagles has been held by Rusty Sweeney. Rusty, 33, was raised in Lake Jackson, Texas and learned his trade as a student equipment manager at Lamar University in Beaumont, Texas. Rusty and his wife, Connie, make their home in Ridley Park, Pa. with their daughter, Kelly Ann, 3, and newborn son, Rushford Lee IV. Sweeney's assistant in the equipment department is Michael Kane, who has been with the club since 1975. Mike resides in Glenolden, Pa. with his wife, Helen.

Review of Eagles' 1979 Season

EAGLES 23, NEW YORK GIANTS 17

September 2 at Veterans Stadium

The Eagles did all their scoring in the second period and the 23-point outburst was enough to defeat the Giants for the 8th consecutive time since 1975. Ron Jaworski's pinpoint passing set up a Billy Campfield one-yard scoring run for the Birds' first touchdown of the season after New York had taken a 3-0 first period lead. Jaworski hit Harold Carmichael with 7 and 41-yard scoring strikes after Campfield's run and rookie Tony Franklin ended the Birds' scoring with a 46-yard field goal. Because the game was not sold out 72 hours before kickoff, it was not televised locally.

ATLANTA 14, EAGLES 10

September 10 at Veterans Stadium

In a replay of the previous season's NFC wildcard playoff game, the Falcons scored the only touchdown of the second half and held on for the victory in a Monday night game nationally televised by ABC. The Eagles were hampered by a ground game that gained only 57 yards on 28 carries. Harold Carmichael did his best to pick up the slack, enjoying the second best single game performance of his career with nine pass receptions for 127 yards. The purchase of approximately 1,200 unsold tickets by the Pep Boys auto supply chain assured that the game would be televised in the Delaware Valley.

EAGLES 26, NEW ORLEANS 14

September 16 at the Superdome

The defense, playing most of the game without Bill Bergey, was overwhelming and the offense was just as impressive as the Birds upped their record in the Superdome to 2-0. End Carl Hairston was the key defensive player for the Birds, who limited New Orleans to just 75 yards rushing and sacked quarterback Archie Manning three times after he had been dumped only once in the season's first two games. Wilbert Montgomery enjoyed a 95-yard rushing game and scored a TD on a 26-yard pass from Ron Jaworski. Bergey's early game left knee injury required surgery the next day and he was lost for the remainder of the season.

September 23 at Giants Stadium

The Eagles extended their win streak over the Giants to nine games with a 17-13 victory that had its share of drama at the end. The Birds had a 17-6 lead early in the 4th period on a Tony Franklin field goal and two Ron Jaworski scoring passes but the Giants made it interesting when they cut the deficit to four points and had possession at the Eagles' 39-yard line with two minutes left in the game. Safety John Sciarra saved the Birds, however, with an interception at his own 8 and return to the 21. Wilbert Montgomery enjoyed his first 100-yard rushing game of the season and also scored on a 53-yard pass reception.

EAGLES 17, PITTSBURGH 14

September 30 at Veterans Stadium

The defending (and eventual) Super Bowl champions absorbed a 17-14 loss and the Eagles upped their record to 4-1 before a record Veterans Stadium crowd of 70,352. The teams battled to a 7-7 halftime standoff before Tony Franklin put the Birds ahead to stay with a 48-yard field goal in the third period. Wilbert Montgomery, who had 98 yards rushing against the Steel Curtain, increased the Philadelphia lead to 17-7 later in that stanza with a one-yard run set up by John Bunting's 13-yard return of a Terry Bradshaw interception to the Pittsburgh 2. Herman Edwards had intercepted an earlier Bradshaw pass in the Eagles' end zone and Ken Clarke recovered a Franco Harris fourth period fumble on the Eagles' 1.

EAGLES 28, WASHINGTON 17

October 7 at Veterans Stadium

Taking advantage of a switch in home playing dates necessitated by the visit of Pope John Paul II to Washington on this date, the Eagles rolled a 5-1 record with a solid victory over the surprising 'Skins. Wilbert Montgomery rushed for 127 yards and scored four touchdowns, the second time he had accomplished that feat against Washington in as many seasons. No other Eagle has ever scored four times in a game twice in a career. The offensive line's run blocking was so efficient that Ron Jaworski attempted only 12 passes, completing 8 for 143 yards and an 11-yard score to Montgomery. Rookie free safety Brenard Wilson picked off a Joe Theismann pass for his third interception of the season.

October 14 at Busch Memorial Stadium

The Eagles scored their 5th straight victory and won in St. Louis for the second consecutive year as Wilbert Montgomery outrushed eventual rookie of the year Ottis Anderson, 117 yards to 73. The smallest Eagle, Wally Henry, played the major role in the Eagles' huge 249 to 94 advantage in return yardage. "Every time we needed a big return Wally gave it to us," said Dick Vermeil. With the Eagles trailing, 20-17 more than midway through the last period, Henry returned a St. Louis punt 34 yards to the Cardinals' 33-yard line and five plays later, Billy Campfield scampered 11 yards around right end for the winning touchdown.

WASHINGTON 17, EAGLES 7

October 21 at R.F.K. Stadium

The Washington pass rush was ferocious and their running game was just as potent as the 'Skins avenged their loss of two weeks earlier with a one-sided win of their own. Fullback John Riggins powered for 120 of Washington's 211 rushing yards while the Redskin defense was sacking Ron Jaworski seven times and limiting the Eagles' ground game to 61 yards on 16 carries. Harold Carmichael went deep into the final period before catching his only pass of the game, a 26-yarder that kept his string of consecutive games with at least one pass reception alive at 104, one short of the all-time NFL record. Free safety Brenard Wilson picked off the 4th pass of his rookie season.

CINCINNATI 37, EAGLES 13

October 28 at Riverfront Stadium

The Birds reached the low point of their regular season play when they turned the ball over four times inside their own 30-yard line and the host Bengals turned three of the miscues into touchdowns and another into a field goal on the way to their 24-point victory. One of the few bright spots for the Eagles was their five sacks of Cincinnati quarterback Ken Anderson, giving the team 25 for the season. End Carl Hairston recorded one of the sacks to give him a total of 11, a new club record. Backup quarterback Johnnie Walton threw the first touchdown pass of his career, an 8-yarder to Harold Carmichael late in the game to account for the final score.

CLEVELAND 24, EAGLES 19

November 4 at Veterans Stadium

Despite one of their best efforts of the season, the Eagles fell to the Browns when the visitors scored two touchdowns in the last four minutes of the game to overcome a 19-10 Philadelphia advantage. With Wilbert Montgomery running for an NFL season best of 197 yards, including a 62-yard scoring sprint, the Eagles appeared to have the game in control until the late Cleveland comeback engineered by quarterback Brian Sipe. Early in the game, Harold Carmichael caught a short pass from Ron Jaworski to set a new NFL record with at least one reception in 106 consecutive games. The former record of 105 straight games was held by Danny Abramowicz.

EAGLES 31, DALLAS 21

November 12 at Texas Stadium

A Dallas touchdown pass with just 61 seconds elapsed in the first period only momentarily deterred the Eagles and they went on to a memorable nationally televised Monday night victory, their first ever in Texas Stadium. Tony Franklin's 59-yard second period field goal, second longest in NFL history, followed touchdown passes by Ron Jaworski and Johnnie Walton, respectively, and staked the Eagles to a 17-7 halftime lead. The Birds went up, 24-7, when Harold Carmichael caught his second TD pass of the game, a 13-yarder from Jaworski in the third period. The Cowboys cut the margin to 24-21 late in the last quarter before Wilbert Montgomery sprinted 37 yards for the clinching touchdown after an unsuccessful Dallas onside kick attempt.

November 18 at Veterans Stadium

The Eagles downed the St. Louis Cardinals twice in a season for the first time since 1971 with a 16-13 decision at Veterans Stadium. The Birds' offense for much of the game consisted of three Tony Franklin field goals, although Wilbert Montgomery ended the game with 118 yards on 26 carries, his 6th 100-yard rushing effort of the season and the 13th of his career. A precarious 9-6 Philadelphia lead had been turned into a 13-9 St. Louis advantage when Wayne Morris scored from the one yard out at the end of a 73-yard drive late in the third period. The Eagles scored the eventual winning touchdown only minutes later, however, when Ron Jaworski hit tight end Keith Kreple in stride with a 40-yard scoring pass.

EAGLES 21, GREEN BAY 10

November 25 at Lambeau Field

After a magnificent goal line stand that protected a 14-3 Eagles' lead in the last period, fullback Leroy Harris turned out of his own end zone and ran a club record 80 yards down the left sideline to set up the Birds' final touchdown in a workmanlike performance in Green Bay. Philadelphia never trailed after Ron Jaworski found Wilbert Montgomery for an 11-yard touchdown pass in the first period. Jaworski hit Harold Carmichael with a 17-yard strike in the third period and ended the Eagles' scoring with a 4-yard pass to Harold five plays after Harris's 80-yard run. Leroy finished with 137-yards on only nine carries.

EAGLES 44, DETROIT 7

December 2 at Veterans Stadium

A 24-point second period, their most productive quarter since 1967, helped the Eagles to the one-sided victory over the Lions. In the process, the Birds became the first NFL team to clinch a playoff spot in 1979. After a 0-0 first period, the Eagles scored on four consecutive possessions to put the contest out of reach by halftime. Following Tony Franklin's second and third field goals of the game and Detroit's only touchdown, Billy Campfield burst 92 yards with a kickoff return to give the Eagles a 37-7 lead late in the third period. The 37-point margin of victory was the largest for the Birds since the 1953 squad defeated the Chicago Cardinals, 38-0. The Eagles had 29 first downs to Detroit's 5 and outgained the Lions, 385 yards to 180.

DALLAS 24, EAGLES 17

December 8 at Veterans Stadium

An opportunity to win the NFC Eastern Division title outright eluded the Eagles when they dropped a 24-17 decision to the Cowboys in windy Veterans Stadium. After playing to a 10-10 tie at halftime, Dallas took the lead for good on a Robert Newhouse run in the third quarter and put the game out of reach early in the last period when Butch Johnson caught a deflected Roger Staubach pass for a 17-yard TD reception. The Eagles fought back to 24-17 on a one-yard Wilbert Montgomery run and drove to the Dallas 17 before Ron Jaworski was sacked once and threw three incomplete passes. The crowd of 71,434 broke the Veterans Stadium record set earlier in the year against Pittsburgh.

EAGLES 26, HOUSTON 20

December 16 at the Astrodome

The Eagles had already secured a playoff spot (as had the Oilers) but they needed a win in the regular season finale to reach the 11 victory plateau for their most productive campaign since 1949. Both teams substituted liberally but the Birds' reserves proved equal to the challenge as Johnnie Walton threw the eventual game winning touchdown pass to rookie Scott Fitzkee early in the last period with most of the starters watching from the sideline. Tony Franklin kicked field goals of 22 and 41 yards to give him 23 for the season, just one short of Tom Dempsey's club record of 24 set in 1973.

NFC Wildcard Playoff Game

EAGLES 27, CHICAGO 17

December 23 at Veterans Stadium

Second year man Billy Campfield took a short pass from Ron Jaworski and turned it into a 63-yard touchdown in the last period to break a 17-17 tie and help the Eagles to their first post-season win since 1960. The Birds got on the scoreboard first on Harold Carmichael's 17-yard TD reception from Jaworski, but the Bears eventually took a 17-10 halftime lead on a field goal and two short scoring runs by Walter Payton. Carmichael and Jaworski teamed up to tie the game in the third period on a 29-yard touchdown play that set the stage for Campfield's big play. Tony Franklin iced the game with a 34-yard field goal later in the last period. The key defensive play came late in the third quarter when the veteran cornerback Bobby Howard intercepted a Mike Phipps' pass in the Eagles' endzone after the Bears had driven to the Philadelphia 9-yard line with the score tied at 17.

NFC Divisional Playoff Game

TAMPA BAY 24, EAGLES 17

December 29 at Tampa Stadium

The Eagles' Super Bowl hopes were crushed by the underdog Buccaneers in the warm December sunshine of Tampa, Florida. The host team set the stage for the game after receiving the opening kickoff when they drove 80 yards and held the ball for nine minutes and 34 seconds culminated by Ricky Bell's 4-yard touchdown run. That early 7-0 lead was eventually expanded to 17-0 before the Eagles got on the scoreboard just before halftime with an 11-yard TD pass from Ron Jaworski to Charlie Smith. That score was set up by rookie linebacker Jerry Robinson's pass interception and 37-yard return to the Tampa Bay 11. The Eagles closed to 17-10 on Tony Franklin's 42-yard field goal in the third period but the Bucs put the game out of reach midway through the final stanza on a 9-yard scoring pass from Doug Williams to tight end Jimmie Giles. With tailback Bell leading the way with 142-yards, Tampa Bay outtrushed the Eagles, 186 to 48. Wilbert Montgomery carried only 13 times for 35 yards.

The Eagles' Story

A second straight winning season and the most victories by a Philadelphia team since 1961 proved that the Birds' wildcard playoff appearance of the previous year was legitimate. An 11-5 regular season record tied the Eagles with Dallas for the best record in the NFC and won them another wildcard appearance, this time against the Chicago Bears with a resultant 27-17 victory. The season ended the next week, however, with a 24-17 loss in an NFC playoff game at Tampa Bay. Individually, halfback Wilbert Montgomery broke his own club record with 1,512 rushing yards, wide receiver Harold Carmichael scored 11 touchdowns among his 52 pass receptions and both played in the Pro Bowl with five other Eagles' teammates, Stan Walters, Jerry Sisemore, Wally Henry, Randy Logan and Charlie Johnson. Dick Vermeil's head coaching peers voted him the NFL Coach of the Year in recognition of the job he and his staff did in Philadelphia. Regular season attendance: home 550,611, away 435,169; overall 985,780. All were new club records.

1978

The Birds enjoyed a winning season for the first time since 1966 when they compiled a 9-7 record in the NFL's initial 16-game regular season. That was good enough to get them into their first post-season playoff action since 1960, but a heartbreaking 14-13 loss to the Atlanta Falcons in the wildcard playoff game ended the season on a down note. The Eagles placed four players in the Pro Bowl game, led by halfback Wilbert Montgomery, who broke Steve Van Buren's 29-year-old club rushing record for a season by running for 1220 yards. Other Pro Bowl players included wide receiver Harold Carmichael, linebacker Bill Bergey and offensive tackle Stan Walters. For his role in leading the Eagles to a winning playoff season, Dick Vermeil was named NFC Coach of the Year by United Press International. Regular season attendance: home 502,956, away 424,310; overall 927,266.

Despite only a slight improvement to a 5-9 record, the Eagles fielded one of the NFL's most impressive defenses. Under coordinator and former player Marion Campbell, the unit gave up only 207 points, setting a club record for least points allowed in a 14-game season and tying a team record with 47 sacks of opposing quarterbacks. The on-the-field leader of the newly-installed 3-4 defense was again inside linebacker Bill Bergey, who won numerous All-Pro and All-NFC honors at season's end and was selected to play in his third Pro Bowl game. An improved offense was engineered by new quarterback Ron Jaworski, who threw 18 touchdown passes and scored five times himself. The more productive offense coupled with the solid defense enabled the Birds to actually outscore their 14 regular season opponents, 220 to 207. Attendance: home 349,506; away 313,783; overall 663,289.

Under first year head coach Dick Vermeil, the Eagles repeated their 1975 record of 4-10 against a schedule that included nine winning teams and the eventual Super Bowl participants, Oakland and Minnesota. The Birds played respectably in almost every game but their inability to score points proved their downfall in most of the setbacks. The team did not score more than 20 points in a game until the finale against the expansion Seattle Seahawks. Rookie Mike Hogan, a 9th round draft choice, was a pleasant surprise. He led the team in rushing with 561 yards despite missing $6\frac{1}{2}$ games with a shoulder injury. Middle linebacker Bill Bergey again anchored the defense, winning unanimous All-NFC recognition and a spot in the Pro Bowl. Bergey led all Eagles' tacklers with 146 initial hits and 113 assists. Attendance: home 392,921; away 386,498; overall 779,419.

Upset losses in the first two games set the stage for a disheartening 4-10 season that included three losses by field goals in the final seconds. Leonard Tose announced that the contract of head coach Mike McCormack would not be renewed for 1976. He and general manager Jim Murray then began an exhaustive search for a new coach that ended with the appointment of 39-year-old Dick Vermeil of UCLA on February 8, 1976. On-the-field highlights for the 1975 Eagles included twin wins over the Washington Redskins for the first time since 1961. Second year wide receiver Charley Smith emerged as a game-breaker and second year linebacker Frank LeMaster was a defensive standout. Tight end Charles Young was selected to play in his third straight Pro Bowl and second year quarterback Mike Boryla, a late substitute in that game, led the NFC to victory with two 4th period touchdown passes. Attendance: home 428,640; away 357,553; overall 786,193.

The Eagles compiled a respectable 7-7 record despite a six-game mid-season losing streak that cost them a legitimate chance at a playoff berth. The Birds rebounded from that slump to win their final three games behind the quarterbacking of rookie Mike Boryla, a spring acquisition from Cincinnati. That team also provided the Eagles with middle linebacker Bill Bergey, who arrived during training camp for two first draft choices and one second choice. Bergey enjoyed All-Pro honors at the end of his first season in Philadelphia and played in the Pro Bowl along with tight end Charley Young, who became the third straight Eagle to win the NFC receiving title. Young caught 63 passes for 696 yards. Owner Leonard Tose named former administrative assistant Jim Murray to the post of general manager at the end of the season. Attendance: home 420,210; away 313,433; overall 733,643.

The Eagles regained respectability in the National Football League, just as head coach Mike McCormack promised before the season. The 5-8-1 record was a misleading one since one game was tied by a New York Giants' field goal at the final gun and another was lost by a missed Eagles' field goal as time ran out. Four Eagles were selected to play in the Pro Bowl including quarterback Roman Gabriel, who led the league in four passing categories after being acquired from Los Angeles before the season; league receiving leader Harold Carmichael; tight end Charles Young, the leading pass catching tight end in the NFL; and safety Bill Bradley, who played in his third straight Pro Bowl. Attendance: home 414,445; away 381,394; overall 795,839.

Bright spots were few and far between in a 2-11-1 season that had begun optimistically at what was to become the Birds' final training camp at Albright College. Individual honors went to two of the smallest Eagles, Bill Bradley and Harold Jackson. Free safety Bradley was an All-Pro choice after again leading the league with 9 interceptions while wide receiver Jackson won All-NFC honors for his 62 receptions, tops in the NFL. General manager Pete Retzlaff resigned at season's end and the entire coaching staff was released. Mike McCormack was named head coach in January, 1973. On their way to a 6-2-1 mark in the final nine games, the Birds got great performances from an aggressive young defense featuring the team's last four number one draft choices and NFL interception leader Bill Bradley. Kicker Tom Dempsey saw action in only five games but still managed to lead the league in field goal accuracy (12 of 17) and set a team record with a 54-yard field goal. Crippling injuries to players like Tom Woodeshick, Bill Bradley and Leroy Keyes helped lead to a disappointing 3-10-1 season for the 1970 Eagles. Hardest hit was the defensive backfield which was almost completely depleted before regular season play began but still featured enough capable replacements to rank second in official league statistics. The overall defense ranked seventh and helped the Birds to a respectable 3-3-1 record over the season's final seven games including a memorable 23-20 upset of the New York Giants at Franklin Field. Veteran tight end Gary Ballman was selected by teammates as Most Valuable Eagle and offensive tackle Wade Key made the NFL's All-Rookie team. Middle linebacker Tim Rossovich, playing all year on an injured ankle, led the defense with 174 combined tackles (85 initial hits, 89 assists). 1969

1969 was totally the year of change for the Eagles. Owner Jerry Wolman sold the team to trucking tycoon Leonard Tose for $16,155,000.00. Tose replaced General Manager-Head Coach Joe Kuharich immediately after the purchase. He named Pete Retzlaff, the former Eagle All-Pro tight end, as his General Manager. Retzlaff then picked Jerry Williams, an ex-Eagle player and Assistant Coach, as the Head Coach. Retzlaff and Tose set right to work trading and reorganizing the entire Eagles organization on and off the field. In trades with the Rams Retzlaff picked up player-coach Irv Cross, Don Chuy, and Joe Carollo for tackle Bob Brown. Fullback Izzy Lang headed west and the Eagles received super receiver Harold Jackson who led the league in pass receiving yardage in his first year with the Eagles. Williams' team finished with a 4-9-1 marker and three Eagles went to the Pro Bowl . . . Tim Rossovich, Dave Lloyd and Harold Jackson. Attendance: home 424,606; away 385,545; overall 810,151.

LB Maxie Baughan traded to Los Angeles for DT Frank Molden and LB Fred Brown. DB Aaron Martin and FL Willie Brown acquired from Rams in trade for DB Irv Cross. On June 8 NFL and AFL announce merger, with Pete Rozelle as commissioner; common draft for 1967; inter-league pre-season games in '67; and formal regular season schedule in 1970. Season ticket sales hit an all-time high of 50,047. After getting off to a sluggish start, the Eagles recovered to win 7 of their last 9 games to compile a 9-5 record and gain a second place tie with Cleveland in the Eastern Division. It was the Eagles' best performance since 1961, and only World Champion Green Bay and Eastern Champion Dallas had more victories. City of Philadelphia awards architectural contract for new municipal stadium, which was expected to be operative for the 1967 season. However, disagreements arose over the design and the target date was set back to late 1969 by executive architect Hugh A. Stubbins. Eagles were granted 10-year exclusive pro football lease for new facility. Guard Pete Case was sent to New York for Lane Howell, who became regular offensive tackle. Knee injuries knocked QB Norm Snead out of 3 games and DT Floyd Peters out of 5. Tim Brown rushed for 861 yards (3d in NFL) and Pete Retzlaff caught 66 passes (3d in NFL). MEDIA INFORMATION

CREDENTIAL REQUESTS: News media representatives on assignment who have not been issued season press credentials should request single game credentials in advance by writing or calling the Eagles' Public Relations Department, Veterans Stadium, Philadelphia, Pa. 19148 (phone: 215-463-2500). Credentials reserved in advance can be picked up at the Press Gate (not the Will Call Window) two hours before the scheduled kickoff. Members of the media who regularly cover a visiting team should arrange to acquire their credentials through that team's PR department.

PRESS BOXES: The Eagles maintain three press boxes, designated A, B and C on the 4th level of Veterans Stadium. Admission to the press box area is strictly limited to those individuals holding credentials issued by the Eagles' Public Relations Department. No other media identification cards will be honored. Sportscomm (215-446-0525) and Amfax (617-337-3415) facilities are located in Press Box A. With the exception of field photographers (see below), all news media should enter the press gate (Spectrum side of stadium) and take the elevator to the 4th level.

TELEPHONES: Game day telephones at an assigned seat can be ordered by calling Jerry McManus at 215-271-0010 or the Bell Telephone representative at 215-928-2200.

TELEVISION AND RADIO: Network television and visiting radio facilities are located on the 4th level between press boxes A and B. Network TV credentials can be obtained through the network game producer while visiting radio credentials will be issued through the visiting team's PR man unless other arrangements have been made in advance.

PHOTOGRAPHERS: Field photographers with field photo sideline credentials should enter the press gate and take the press elevator to the 1st (Field) level where special identifying arm bands are distributed in the southwest corner of the stadium (off the playing field). There is also a photo deck located on the 4th level. Space there is extremely limited and is available only on a reserved basis. Field photographers and anyone else holding a sideline credential are cautioned that the bench area inside the 35-yard lines is off-limits to all non-team personnel. Field photographers must also remain behind the broken yellow lines around the perimeter of the field at all times.

LOCKER ROOMS: Admission to the home and visiting locker rooms after a game is determined by each team. There is absolutely no admission to the locker rooms before or during a game.

PRESS CLUB: Admittance to the Press Club before, during and after a game is limited to persons holding game credentials. Absolutely no one else is permitted in the dining area.

THE FRITO-LAY STORY

Philadelphians like a lot of things, but they love three above all else; their families, their sports teams, and their pretzels. Boy, do they love their pretzels! And because they do, the Children's Hospital of Philadelphia and its nationally-renowned cancer treatment and research programs have benefited to the tune of over $160,000 since 1975.

Everyone in Philadelphia loves pretzels. Frito-Lay, Inc.'s market researchers found that out a few years ago when they discovered that the Delaware Valley's seven million people, while representing only three percent of the nation's population, consumed fully 20 percent of the country's pretzel production. They also found that pretzels and potato chips constituted more than 77 percent of the Philadelphia area's total snack sales. Clearly this was great news for Frito-Lay and eventually for Eagles Fly for Leukemia and the Children's Hospital of Philadelphia.

Armed with their impressive statistics and with a desire to increase their share of the local market, Frito-Lay officials approached the Eagles in 1975 with an intriguing concept; for each touchdown scored by the team during the '75 season, the company would contribute $500 to Eagles Fly for Leukemia. At that rate, $33,500 was generated for Children's Hospital by the end of the 1975 season.

Two years later in 1977, Frito-Lay revised the system and began to contribute $100 for each POINT scored by the Eagles, thus recognizing points after touchdowns, field goals and even safeties in their accounting. That generated a total of $68,200 for the '77 and '78 seasons.

Last year the team responded with its best showing yet, scoring 79 points in the pre-season, 339 in 16 regular season games and 44 more in two playoffs contests for a grand total of $51,000 for the 1979's season. That included $200 a point for the two confrontations with Dallas since Frito-Lay is based in that city.

Through the generosity of Frito-Lay, Inc., the Children's Hospital of Philadelphia has received over $150,000 for its cancer research and treatment programs. In this photo, the children of Frito-Lay employees and the food trade gather for Frito-Lay Day with the Eagles at Veterans Stadium.

In recent years, Frito-Lay has solidified its relationship with the team by sponsoring the official team picture and individual player photos for fans, advertising in PRO! magazine and co-sponsoring with the club a Frito-Lay day at Veteran's Stadium for invited guests from the food trade. The company also provides college scholarship money to deserving players in the annual Philadelphia High School City All-Star Football Game.

It seems that everyone has benefited from the relationship between Frito-Lay and the Eagles. In addition to the tremendously increased product awareness that the company has gained for its ROLD GOLD brand pretzels and LAY's brand potato chips in the Delaware Valley, the company's Director of Public Relations, Charles Suscavage, counts two other important intangibles. "We cannot measure on paper the goodwill Frito-Lay has acquired with the trade and consumers in each of those divisions, as well as increased salesmen's morale—they're proud to be part of a company that goes out of its way to help the children of the community," Suscavage says.

Helping children is what Frito-Lay's involvement with the Eagles Fly for Leukemia is all about. Dr. Audrey Evans, director of oncology at Children's Hospital, points to the institution's special 12-bed oncology unit on the 6th floor and the 9th floor lab complex as two specific results of Eagles Fly and Frito-Lay contributions. "We couldn't have done it without them," says Dr. Evans. "Now that these two main projects are completed, I suspect that the money from now on will go to support the bone marrow transplant program. We do about 25 of them a year, and they are very expensive."

They are also very necessary. The Eagles and Frito-Lay remain committed to guaranteeing that no child will be denied the procedure because of the expenses involved. That's the beauty of the entire program.
